MB's Vans Division Ride-Sharing Program

Mercedes-Benz Vans is entering the ride-sharing sector. To this end, the van division of Daimler AG is setting up a joint venture with the US startup company Via. Daimler Mobility Services additionally joins in as a strategic investor in Via. Unlike other ride-hailing companies, Via has focused on developing, from the ground up, a scalable and on-demand shared ride solution. The intelligent Via algorithm supports smart public transport, enabling a dynamic mass transit system that reduces traffic volume in urban areas.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

We had our Annual Picnic September 23rd and we all thank the Siefert and the Perrys for doing such an outstanding job, with a special thanks to Frank for the delicious smoked brats. On October 7th and 8th we had an event at Isringhausen Imports who did an outstanding job hosting us. And, a special thanks to Kathy Kuehn and Alan Biby for hosting both the dinner and various events the next day.

Fall is the best time of year. I love driving in the convertible when the weather is cool and the leaves are starting to change, but we know what's around the corner. Our Annual Planning Meeting will be held on November 6th at Mercedes-Benz of St. Louis. Please plan to attend, bring many ideas, and be ready to host an event. We are looking for a huge turnout again, as this is your club and as you saw, we have had some spectacular events for 2017.

As you know, the holidays are getting closer and we are starting to plan various holiday events. Our Annual Holiday Party this year will be held on Saturday, December 2nd at Magiannos Little Italy Restaurant. Marti Jacquemin will be handling the dinner, so please RSVP ASAP. See the Cover Page of this newsletter for further details.

It is with deep regret that I have to report that our long-time member and former newsletter editor, Maribel Knickerbocker, lost her 6-1/2 year battle to ovarian cancer on October 4th. She will be deeply missed. Also, we hope that Russell Hughes has a speedy recovery after a recent car accident.

Wishing everyone the Very Best in the coming months!

Steve

MERCEDES-BENZ MAKES A $1 BILLION BET IT CAN TAKE DOWN TESLA

USA Today.com

Nathan Bomey, USA TODAY Sept. 21, 2017

Showing its seriousness about an electric future, Mercedes-Benz plans to invest $1 billion in Alabama to produce electric vehicles.

The investment will go both to an expansion of the German luxury brand's existing plant near Tuscaloosa and to build a new 1 million-square-foot battery factory.

While electric vehicle sales have been tepid overall, Mercedes has watched as Tesla jumped out and has become a formidable player in the super-premium segment with its electric Model S sedan and Model X crossover. Now Tesla is threatening the lower, entry-level part of the luxury market with its lower-priced Model 3 sedan.

The company is pursuing an "anything Tesla can do, we can do better" strategy, Sanford Bernstein analyst Max Warburton said in a recent note to investors. "Mercedes is convinced it can match Tesla battery costs, beat its manufacturing and procurement costs, ramp up production faster and have better quality. It is also confident its cars will drive better."

Mercedes' move also comes as the major German automakers, including Volkswagen and BMW, are pivoting rapidly away from diesel engines amid increasingly rigid global emissions regulations.

Mercedes said it expects to add 600 new jobs in the Tuscaloosa area with the new investment. It will augment a $1.3 billion expansion of the facility announced in 2015 to add a new car body manufacturing shop and upgrade logistics and computer systems.

"We are significantly growing our manufacturing footprint here in Alabama, while sending a clear message to our customers across the U.S. and around the world: Mercedes-Benz will continue to be on the cutting-edge of electric vehicle development and production," said Markus Schäfer, a Mercedes brand executive, in a statement.

The company's new plans include Alabama production of electric SUV models under the Mercedes EQ nameplate.

The 1 million-square-foot battery factory will be located near the Tuscaloosa plant, Mercedes said in a statement. It will be the fifth Daimler operation worldwide with battery production capability.

Mercedes said it plans to begin construction in 2018 and start production in "the beginning of the next decade." The move fits squarely within Daimler's plan to offer more than 50 vehicles with some form of hybrid or electric powertrain by 2022.

The announcement was tied to a 20th-anniversary celebration at the Tuscaloosa plant, which opened in 1997. The factory currently employs more than 3,700 workers and makes more than 310,000 vehicles annually.

The factory makes the GLE, GLS and GLE Coupe SUVs for sale in the U.S. and globally and makes the C-class sedan for sale in North America.

Despite low gasoline prices and U.S. market share of only 0.5% so far this year for electric cars, investments in the segment are accelerating for regulatory and technological reasons.

Sanford Bernstein analyst Mark Newman projected that falling battery costs would make electric cars the same price as gas vehicles by 2021, which is "far earlier than most expect."

And although the Trump administration is considering lowering fuel economy standards, automakers are pressing ahead with electric car plans because regulators in other markets are pushing to reduce emissions.

Our love for Mercedes-Benz is rivaled only by our passion for restoring them.

A masterpiece of intelligence.

You don't measure a car's efficiency just at the gas pump. It's also something you feel in its confident agility. How it moves into traffic, or negotiates a surprise. It's how an E-Class always feels right for the times, and in the moment.

Springfield Tour, Saturday-Sunday, October 7th-8th, 2017

Members of the St. Louis Gateway Section caravanned to Springfield, Illinois on Saturday, October 7th, for an overnight event. We arrived at Isringhausen Imports for a tour of their facility, which includes Mercedes-Benz, Porsche, BMW, and Volvo.

We were joined by members of the Central Illinois Section, located in Peoria, for lunch. John and Bernice Haverhals (right) and Chris and Elizabeth Bron (left), seated with Christina Winkler of the St. Louis Gateway Section. Lunch was provided by Isringhausen Imports. A big thank you goes to Anies Humadia, General Sales Manager and to Brian Mitchell and Fred Cook for welcoming the St. Louis Gateway Section to the Isringhausen facility.

After lunch, Brian gave us a history of this family-owned business. In addition to new and used cars, we also got to see the current owner's stable of race cars which he, and his driver, participate in several Pro/Am races throughout the year. In addition, Isringhausen is one of very few factory dealers who do race car preparation for other racers.

After the tour and checking into our hotel, we gathered for cocktails in the hotel's lounge and then walked to a local Italian restaurant, Saputos, for a great dinner with good food and lively conversation.

On Sunday, with beautiful weather, we toured the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Museum. Members then left to enjoy other interesting sites in the area. This was an excellent event and we thank Kathy and Karl Kuehn and Alan and Audrey Biby for hosting and coordinating this great event.

MICHAEL JORDAN'S SLR McLAREN IS FOR SALE

<http://www.motorauthority.com/news>

By: Sean Szymkowski

Judging by his purchase, legendary basketball player Michael Jordan has excellent taste in cars.

However, the basketball star has parted ways with at least one car from his collection: this Mercedes-Benz SLR McLaren 722 Edition, and it can now be yours. The extra-special SLR surfaced for sale on Autotrader and is located at a dealership in Houston, Texas. Of course, the dealer made it clear this SLR comes with a very popular name attached to it. The 722 Edition was the track-focused version of the supercar.

It featured a modified 5.5-liter V-8 engine pumping out 650 horsepower, plus a handful of suspension modifications. The sprint from 0-62 mph happens in just 3.6 seconds. All of those performance figures are still quite respectable, 10 years after the car's production. As for the nomenclature, the number "722" references British racer Stirling Moss and co-driver Denis Jenkinson, who piloted a Mercedes 300 SLR to victory in 1955. The race began at 7:22 a.m.

In 2007, Mercedes priced the 722 Edition at $480,000, but today the Houston-based dealership is asking $625,000. Part of that may be the exclusivity of the 722 Edition, since Mercedes and McLaren only built 150 of them, but the price likely reflects the car's celebrity status as well.

MERCEDES E CLASS ACCIDENT PROTECTION

This is a photo of long-time member Russ Hughes' car after it was involved in an accident recently. Russ literally walked away from the accident but did sustain some injuries from the multiple airbag deployment.

Thanks to his Mercedes safety design and systems, Russ is home and recovering nicely. Vehicle safety at Mercedes-Benz is an issue that is relevant not only to the driver of a vehicle, but also to their passengers. And, it was for this very reason that the Stuttgart-based brand launched the front-passenger airbag, back in September 1987. It was a further important innovation in passive safety, following the driver's airbag that had first been presented in March, 1981.
